

Page Swanger

Client Relationship Manager

Page Swanger is a Client Relationship Manager at ClearRock. Her focus is on cultivating meaningful, long-term relationships and being a trusted partner to clients across all three practice areas. In her role, she works together with the talent consulting team to provide guidance, support, and training with an emphasis on creating consistently positive client experiences.

With an eye for continuous improvement, Page applies her expertise to making it as easy as possible for our clients to engage with us and achieve their goals. Her role is critical for strengthening the relationships we have with our clients and upholding the high standards of ClearRock's delivery and service excellence.

Prior to joining ClearRock, Page worked as a Client Success Manager (CSM) for a managed services company and Predictive Index (PI) Partner. As a CSM, her responsibilities included managing PI clients throughout their lifecycle from onboarding to talent related consulting to facilitating PI training/workshops. Additionally, Page has experience working with clients on employee engagement projects and analysis of behavioral and cognitive assessment data, as well as providing technical software support.

Page holds a Bachelor of Arts in Strategic Communication from Calvin University in Grand Rapids, MI. She is a certified Predictive Index Trainer and Talent Optimization Consultant.

In her free time, Page serves as the high school assistant varsity softball coach at her alma mater and enjoys indoor bouldering. When not involved in athletic pursuits, you can find her spending time with her husband, cooking, playing Dungeons and Dragons, or hosting friends at their historic home in the Honeoye Valley.
