

Lubomir Stoyanov
Vice President, Talent Consulting

Lubomir (Lubo) Stoyanov is Vice President of Talent Consulting at ClearRock, where he partners with organizations during pivotal moments of growth, transition, and change. He is dedicated to helping companies build stronger, more resilient teams and develop strategic talent solutions that drive performance and unlock leadership potential.

Lubo brings over 15 years of experience connecting leaders to products and services that help them foster employee engagement and support organizational growth. With his collaborative approach and people-first mindset, he excels at forging trusted partnerships and helping clients achieve lasting impact through human-centered strategies.

Before joining ClearRock, Lubo held leadership roles as an Assistant Vice President at Bangor Savings Bank and Account Executive at Paylocity, along with similar roles in other local and national organizations. He consistently exceeded business goals through a focus on relationship building, human connection, and a deep understanding of client needs.

Lubo holds a bachelor's degree in Criminal Justice with a minor in Psychology. He lives in Maine with his wife, Kelsey, and their son, Evander. Together they enjoy spending time outdoors near Acadia National Park, hiking, exploring the coastline, and searching for sea glass. Lubo is also an avid hockey fan and supports both the University of Maine Black Bears and the Boston Bruins. He enjoys giving back to his community and has done so through volunteer work with various organizations including the United Way and Habitat for Humanity.
