

Marta McManus

Vice President & Lead Consultant, Career Transition

Marta is Vice President & Lead Consultant of the Career Transition practice area at ClearRock. She partners with the leadership team to ensure that the content and services we offer to clients and participants in our career transition programs are engaging and relevant to today's job seekers. And she works closely with individuals in career transition to help them successfully identify, land, and thrive in their next roles. She has a passion for learning about people and what motivates them, and truly enjoys getting to know each person and meeting them wherever they are in their career journey. She takes a holistic approach to help professionals identify career options that will help them achieve their goals in work and life.

Marta has over 20 years of experience in education, counseling, coaching, and consulting. She has worked as a career coach with clients in a multitude of industries, including financial services, education, business, hospitality, healthcare, and technology. She is known for her empathetic and individualistic/humanistic approach, as well as for supporting each person's career transition in a way that is tailored to their specific needs. She has a natural ability to quickly build relationships and trust and brings calmness and warmth to all her interactions. Marta's superpower is networking and helping others network.

Prior to working at ClearRock, Marta worked as a college counselor in a high school setting, as well as in career services and academic student services in a higher education environment. In addition to her work at ClearRock, she also maintains a private career coaching practice.

Marta immigrated to the US from Poland at the age of 13. Her experience learning a new language and adjusting to a new culture has informed who she is, her cultural sensitivity, and curiosity about others.

Marta has a Bachelor of Arts in Sociology from the College of the Holy Cross and a Master of Science/Education in Psychological Services from University of Pennsylvania. She speaks Polish and Russian.

In her free time, Marta enjoys time with her family, travel, reading, and time outdoors doing just about anything including skiing, hiking, biking, and running.